

The Journal Usage Statistics Portal (JUSP)

The Journal Usage Statistics Portal (JUSP) provides a “one-stop shop” for libraries to view, download and analyse their usage reports from NESLi2 publishers <http://www.jisc-collections.ac.uk/nesli2/>. It responds to current financial challenges with time and cost saving benefits.

JUSP Publishers

We are delighted to announce that Elsevier have confirmed their participation in JUSP. They join Sage, Publishing Technology (ingentaconnect), Nature Publishing Group, Springer, Oxford University Press, Swets, American Institute of Physics (AIP), EBSCO EJS and Project MUSE/The Johns Hopkins University Press.

SUSHI Development

The JUSP SUSHI server has been fully tested and is now available for you to gather quality assured data directly from JUSP. Please get in touch if you would like further information about using this, or you would like help gathering data.

We will be implementing SUSHI for several new publishers during May 2011.

JUSP Libraries

We would like to welcome all libraries that have recently joined JUSP. Libraries joining in April include: Bangor University; Glasgow School of Art; Lancaster University; London Metropolitan University; Queen Margaret University, Edinburgh; Scottish Agricultural College; University of Derby; University of Dundee; University of Exeter; University of Sheffield; University of the West of Scotland and University of York.

JUSP Enhancements

Portal developments this month include an enhanced welcome screen and ISSN search.

Events and Publications

Members of the JUSP team attended UKSG in Harrogate in April 2011. A review of the JUSP breakout session presented by Ross MacIntyre is available through Serials-eNews.

The JUSP team will be presenting a paper at Qualitative and Quantitative Methods in Libraries International Conference (QQML2011) on 25th May 2011. Conference details are available from the website <http://www.isast.org/>

An article describing JUSP development and collaboration with Oxford Journals was published in the April 2011 issue of Learned Publishing. Further details are available from the JUSP website.
